

SOLDIER KILLED IN WRECK ON THE B. & O.

GREENFIELD, Ohio, May 30.—One soldier was killed and four others injured when the Baltimore and Ohio west bound train number 3, bearing Arizona and New Mexico troops from overseas, was wrecked four miles west of here late today. The troops were enroute to Fort Worth, Texas. The dead soldier has not been identified.

The injured.

ROBERT V. JACK, San Jon, New Mexico.

JOSEPH T. SANDEBAL, Los Alamo, New Mexico.

MICHAEL V. RICHARDS, Albuquerque, New Mexico, and another whose name has not been learned.

Immediately after the wreck Camp Sherman army officials were notified and the troops aboard the train will be held there until full information can be obtained regarding the name of the dead man and of the injured.

Spreading rails was given as the cause of the accident.

CAPTAIN RICHARD PEARSON HOBSON PLEADS FOR WORLD PROHIBITION

HERO OF THE MERRIMAC AD-DRESSED GOOD-SIZED CROWD
AT MARKET AUDITORIUM.

FERRY ALABAMIAN HELD THE AUDIENCE SPELL-BOUND
BY HIS ELOQUENCE.

SAYS HUMAN RACE IS SICK, SUFF-ERING FROM DEGENERACY FROM ALCOHOL.

A good sized audience was at the Market Auditorium last night to hear Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, hero of the Merrimac and former congressman from Alabama, speak on national and world-wide prohibition. Captain Hobson's subject was "Democracy Victorious—It's Task Supreme," and he spoke for over an hour, holding his audience spell-bound by his wonderful oratory.

Rev. Clarence E. Allen, pastor of the Fourth Street Methodist church, presided, and Rev. Charles H. Robinson, of the First United Presbyterian church, offered the invocation, after which Rev. Allen, in his opening remarks, spoke of the national victory of prohibition and looked forward to other fields to conquer, which would ultimately embrace the entire world.

He then introduced Mr. Lawson Ledet, of Aarhus, Denmark, one of the European delegates in this country to attend the World Prohibition Conference, to be held in Washington next month.

Mr. Ledet spoke of the conditions in Europe and the preliminary skirmishes for prohibition. Mr. Ledet talked interestingly for about ten minutes and enlightened the audience on the European phase of world prohibition.

Rev. Allen, in introducing Captain Hobson, referred to his naval and congressional record, and paid a glowing tribute to Captain Hobson, and when the latter stepped forward on the platform he was given a great ovation.

Captain Hobson spoke of the various phases of national and world prohibition and interspersed his speech with the highest of eulogies for the American soldier in the world's war, comparing the efficiency of the soldier brought about by army prohibition to that of the people of the world when universal prohibition is effective.

Captain Hobson spoke in part as follows:

"The war has shaken the earth to its foundations. Old systems have toppled to their fall. For more than a generation the human race will have the gigantic task of reconstructing its institutions. It is estimated that more than 20,000,000 human beings have perished as a result of the war. No other species in the plant kingdom or the animal kingdom undertakes systematically to kill itself. Manifestly the human race is sick, out of harmony with its environment and the laws of nature, suffering from degeneracy from alcohol, the first step in a scientific program of reconstruction is to remove the cause of humanity's disease.

Not till after the destructive, harmful agencies in the body politic and body social have been removed, can we successfully put in operation the forces of development and uplift. It will be found upon investigation that the cause of the world's sickness is so deep-seated and the sickness is so premeating that success in work of re-building is dependent chiefly upon the successful treatment of the disease.

Stupifying the war problems produced a wide educational effect. It came as a surprise to Americans to learn that the liquor traffic destroys in our midst the equivalent of more than 11,000,000 leaves of bread a day, enough bread to supply one half the families of the nation. In England the liquor traffic destroys the equivalent of about six and one half million leaves. In France and the countries of central Europe proportions are in most cases even greater.

The problem of feeding the world by increased production and better conservation revolves in best features around the liquor traffic. It will be a surprise to America to know that every year the liquor traffic has entailed an economic burden upon the nation more than the equivalent of the cost of financing the war. The solution of the world's financial problems revolves about the liquor traffic. Similarly for the fuel problem, transportation problem, vice problem, health problem, industrial problem, social problem, political problem. In the last analysis the solution of all these problems will be dependent upon the average standard of character and vitality of the nation in question, and of the human race.

The world coming forth from the work of reconstruction cannot be higher, relatively than this average standard of character. Scientific research has demonstrated beyond a doubt that the vitality and character, the progress and survival of the race hinge upon the degree of degeneracy caused by the use of intoxicating alcohol. This habit-forming drug speaks to the universal motives both of caution and of oblivion and with ready facilities for manufacture, upon upon unshakable field for financial exploitation. So its menace is universal, ever present.

Democracy cannot support the institutions of a civilization. It is vain to hope for universal peace while the world is brutalized by drink. It is vain to hope for brotherly cooperation between the nations and for the wonderful civilization that would follow unless the world be soberer.

Humanity assembled now at the peace conference must demand that a partition be put into the peace covenant establishing the principle that henceforward men shall not use the channels of commerce to exploit their fellow-men through barter in destructive commodities like opium and beverage alcohol. The peace treaty itself should provide for the immediate application of this principle by proclaiming prohibition for the continent of Africa, the continent of Asia, and for all native tribes and all peoples not self-governing.

America is now the most potential factor in the world's councils, having the confidence of all nations. We have adopted a definite policy of national prohibition as a part of our organic law. Therefore it naturally devolves as upon

America to take the leadership in making prohibition world-wide.

The liquor traffic now commands the agencies of modern industry in production and distribution, and if left unhindered, in a few decades would debauch Africa and Asia. The missionary effort of the churches will come too late unless the hand of civilization promptly stays the march of the liquor traffic.

The Anti-Saloon League of America was founded on the principle that the liquor traffic is the deadly foe of all humanity, and that all moral and constructive forces of humanity should unite to destroy this common foe. With a platform as broad as humanity it has harmonized these forces in America and has led the way to their success in nation-wide prohibition. It will continue to lead in the work of enforcement through legislation and administration, radiating from Washington and from every state capital, and will insist that instruction in alcoholic truth be made a permanent part of the educational system of the nation.

It is logical that the great organization, so successful in America, should now turn its activities into the world. It has held a convention, with delegates from every part of the world, and is already sending men and money to other lands. I am here in its name to appeal to all good men and women to join in this last great drive to bring about a sober world.
